Thank you for joining us and supporting the far-reaching and life-changing work of EAC Network. We are proud and grateful to take this moment to acknowledge the incredible trials that we have undergone together, and celebrate our joint accomplishments in the face of such challenges. After 52 years, EAC Network continues to be a leading and critically needed community resource throughout Long Island and New York City. I am humbled by the commitment and vision of those who help us in delivering vital programs and direct support services to almost 44,000 New Yorkers each year. Highlights of what we have accomplished together include:

- Assisting children and families with parenting education, supervised visitation, and advocating for families who are experiencing conflict and turbulence.
- Helping youth to access mentors and role models that help motivate, inspire, and encourage them to strive for a better life and achieve more while navigating through obstacles.
- Assisting our aging neighbors, operating four senior service centers, and delivering nutritious meals through Meals on Wheels to 1,050 vulnerable and at-risk seniors.
- Delivering community and home-based services that offer advocacy, direction, and hope for those struggling with recovery and/or re-entering society after a period of incarceration.
- Preparing individuals to enter the job market, get training, obtain jobs, and retain employment, and empowering them to take control of their own lives in productive and constructive ways.
- Providing educational opportunities that ensure our neighbors have access to vital information, resources, and referral services that help them take actions that are necessary to advance.
- Working closely with our community partners to deliver a wide array of services that empower people in crisis to regain control of their lives.

The compassion and effectiveness of our work here at the EAC Network is driven by a powerful mission to empower, assist, and care for our most vulnerable neighbors. This endeavor is carried out by hundreds of staff members and a league of volunteers who truly believe in the hope and limitless possibilities of the individuals we serve. There is an enormous wealth of humanity, wisdom, and passion behind the many faces of EAC Network’s team. It is through their dedication and innovation that we are able to do what we do … No bridge is too far. We know that people need to feel strengthened and empowered to accomplish their goals, and the people we serve need help in taking the necessary steps to make their own lives better.

Your support of EAC Network allows us to deliver our mission to all those who need our assistance. By having the resources to provide a variety of services and material needs that help people focus on their priorities, we are removing obstacles to success and growth! Your partnership with EAC Network, whether through volunteering, donations and advocacy of our work, helps us to reach more people in need. THANK YOU for helping us, because there is still more to do!
For over 50 years, EAC Network has been providing a wide range of human service programs that protect children and youth, families and communities, individuals involved in the criminal justice system, seniors and the incapacitated, and other at-risk individuals who are in crisis.

EAC Network’s mission is to respond to human needs. Its success in meeting the critical needs of our region’s most vulnerable and underserved populations can be credited to the leadership, dedication, vision, and support from its professional staff, board of directors, community partners, league of community volunteers, donors, and community-at-large. I thank our partners in government and the private sector for your collective support and vision. And I am proud to share the stage tonight with our great New York State Attorney General, Letitia James. I believe we have many shared missions and values, and thank her for her commitment to making New York a better place to live, work, and raise a family.

Our President and Chief Executive Officer, Neela Mukherjee Lockel, MSW, MPA, is guiding EAC Network into directions that ensure our organization’s long-term sustainability and deliver solutions that save lives, while addressing some of the most formidable problems facing our society today and tomorrow.

The challenging path between despair and hope is often fraught with barriers. Yet with the vision and support from friends like you, we are helping our neighbors in need to surmount challenging obstacles, achieve successful outcomes, and live successful lives. We hope that the life-changing transformations you hear about tonight will inspire you to become a part of something bigger ... bringing about lasting change that results in substantiative benefits not only for the individuals and families we serve, but for our communities overall.
Orchestrating a successful fundraising endeavor like EAC Network’s Building Bridges Gala is an enormous undertaking that requires the efforts, dedication, and support from many. From our event committee members who generously donated their time, to our generous sponsors, foundation supporters, community partners, in-kind donors, Board of Directors, dedicated staff of professionals and volunteers, and our friends who came out tonight, we know we could not have done this without you … and we thank you for your unwavering commitment to seeing this through! Your collective vision, leadership, and acts of kindness are helping EAC Network to grow and flourish by creating lasting impact within our communities.

Yet, with all the things we’ve accomplished together, with all the programs and services we’ve put into place, and with all the people we’ve helped, there is still more to do.

While our mission is simple and clear, our work is extremely complex and far-reaching. I’ve witnessed how our Meals on Wheels program is feeding hungry and forgotten seniors. I’ve witnessed how our Child Advocacy Center is protecting at-risk children who have been sexually exploited. I’ve seen how our Behavioral Health, Criminal Justice, and Vocational, and community-based services are helping people get back on their feet, back to work … keeping families together, and making our communities safer and better for all. I’ve seen it, and our clients are living better lives … yet there is still much to do.

I joined EAC Network’s Board of Directors to better the lives of struggling individuals and families, which matches my experiences and mission of the RWDSU Local 338: to better the lives of our members and all working people. And tonight, I am thrilled to have my friend Tish James with us in advocating for and supporting a mission that makes New York a better place for everyone.

That is why I am asking you to stay with us beyond this evening, and commit to fulfilling our mission. Help us to EMPOWER, ASSIST and CARE for our most vulnerable neighbors in need. Our neighbors need you. Please help us help them. Together, we can deliver a lasting legacy of change that will better the lives of our members and all working people within our communities for years to come. Thank you!

Letter From EAC Network’s
Tania Peterson Chandler, Esq., MPA, SHRM-CP
Chief Operating Officer

After being with our not-for-profit agency for over 20 years, I’ve seen it all and witnessed first-hand the need, devastation, and pain of our family’s experiences. At EAC Network, we don’t refer to the individuals we help as customers or clients, and they are not a number. For most of us, the people we help, the children we protect, the seniors we assist, and the individuals we empower, assist, and care for, are our extended family.

While our professional staff see pain and struggles every single day, we also see the positive impact our programs are making for the 43,000+ family members we serve. We see how one job changes the lives of an entire family, what food means to a hungry and forgotten senior, how supervised visits keep a family together, and how our Community Guardianship Program protects at-risk seniors who cannot manage for themselves. We see how our outpatient substance abuse clinic impacts and save lives, and how our alternatives to incarceration programs help individuals to gain control of their lives while helping to keep communities safer. As one of our Board Members said, ‘We help people when they need it most.’

It takes 500 dedicated staff members, a league of selfless volunteers, the vision of our Board of Directors, and the community-at-large to help us deliver critically needed programs and direct support services throughout Long Island and the New York Metro region. The collective efforts of these teams and partners are making all the difference. There is no EAC Network without them … and because they see it all, they know there is still MORE TO DO.

The pandemic revealed an even deeper level of vulnerability for our most underserved and at-risk populations, and brought about a more heightened demand for help. We must be there to meet their changing and growing needs. Preparing to enter the job market, obtaining jobs, and retaining employment, addressing drug dependency and behavioral health issues, protecting at-risk children, honoring our vulnerable seniors with hot meals through Meals On Wheels, and keeping seniors who are otherwise alone connected through our senior centers, is only a part of what we do. With your help EAC Network will always be there. We will work in tandem with the criminal justice system by offering alternatives to incarceration, alternatives to detention, educational intervention, re-entry, and case management programs that work with clients and their families, and offer home-based and community services that ensure that people who need help get it. Please join me in supporting our neighbors in need, because there is still more to do!

EAC NETWORK CONGRATULATES OUR DISTINGUISHED HONOREE

SAMMY CHU
CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER, EDGEWISE ENERGY

Sammy Chu is chief executive officer for Edgewise Energy, a Long Island based developer of next generation distributed clean energy solutions. A proven leader in promoting market adoption of energy efficiency and renewables, he was the founding director of the Town of Babylon’s Long Island Green Homes Program – the first operationalized property assessed clean energy program (PACE) in the country.

Chu previously served in the administration of County Executive Steve Bellone as Chief of Staff and as commissioner of the Suffolk County Department of Labor, Licensing & Consumer Affairs. He was the lead county official in the aftermath of Superstorm Sandy, tasked with coordinating response and recovery. A staunch advocate of inclusive, sustainable economic development, Chu was instrumental in creating workforce opportunities for traditionally underserved individuals during the planning of the transformative Wyandanch Rising development.

He currently serves in various volunteer leadership positions including chairman of the Long Island chapter of the US Green Building Council, vice chair of the Suffolk County Planning Commission, Chair of the LGBT Network, board member of the Health and Welfare Council of Long Island, board member of the Child Care Council of Suffolk, board member of the American Red Cross on Long Island, board member of EAC Long Island, chair of the Suffolk County Workforce Development Board, trustee for Molloy College, and has previously served as a board member of the National Home Performance Council.

In his free time, Chu trains and competes as a nationally ranked powerlifter. Chu is very grateful to be married to his incredibly patient wife, Gennifer. They are the parents of two quick witted teenagers with sophisticated palates, Jakob and Julia.
Letitia “Tish” James is the 67th Attorney General for the State of New York. With decades of work, she is an experienced attorney and public servant with a long record of accomplishments. She is the first woman of color to hold statewide office in New York and the first woman to be elected Attorney General.

In 2013, Ms. James was elected Public Advocate for the City of New York and became the first woman of color to hold citywide office. As Public Advocate, Ms. James served as a watchdog over New York City government agencies and as an advocate for the City’s most vulnerable communities. She transformed the Public Advocate’s office to be a formidable engine for change.

Her office handled over 32,000 constituent complaints and passed more legislation than all previous Public Advocates combined, including a groundbreaking law that banned questions about salary history from the employment process to address the pervasive gender wage gap. Ms. James successfully took on the gun industry by pushing New York City’s largest pension fund to divest from gun and ammunition retailers. She fought in court on behalf of children and families on issues including children in foster care, children with disabilities, and tenant protection. New Yorkers overwhelmingly elected Tish James to a second term as Public Advocate in November 2017.

Prior to serving as Public Advocate, Tish James represented the 35th Council District in Brooklyn in the New York City Council for ten years. As a Council Member, she passed the Safe Housing Act, legislation that forced landlords to improve living conditions for tenants in New York City’s worst buildings. She helped uncover the corruption behind the Office of Payroll Administration’s CityTime contract, a scheme that cost New York City over $600 million. She also pushed through a revolutionary recycling package that included expanding plastic recycling, a new clothing and textile recycling program, and increased access to recycling in public spaces.

Before her election to the City Council, Tish James served as head of the Brooklyn Regional Office of the New York State Attorney General’s Office. She resolved hundreds of consumer complaints and investigated predatory lenders who preyed on first-time homebuyers. She assisted the Civil Rights Bureau in its investigation of the NYPD’s stop-and-frisk policy and cracked down on firms engaged in deceptive business practices including violations of human rights, environmental laws, and scams targeting immigrants.

Tish James began her career as a public defender at the Legal Aid Society. A proud Brooklynite, she is a graduate of Lehman College and Howard University School of Law.
EAC Network Provides More than 100 Human Service Programs Throughout the Greater New York Area

Children & Youth Services

Childhood should be a time of learning, playing, and growing confident through the love and encouragement of family. EAC Network’s Children & Youth services work intensively with children who are victims of child abuse and neglect, or involved in the foster care system. Our team of experts provide supervised visitation between noncustodial parents and their children, promote child passenger safety, offer mentors for at-risk youth, and a myriad of additional services that help children and youth to live free from fear, safe from violence, and protected from abuse and exploitation.

SPOTLIGHT: SUFFOLK COUNTY CHILD ADVOCACY CENTER AT THE PAT AND MARY BAGNATOR PLACE FOR KIDS

EAC Network’s Nationally Accredited Suffolk County Child Advocacy Center’s (CAC) mission is to reduce the revictimization of child sexual and physical abuse or neglect, and promote a coordinated trauma informed, victim-centered investigation. The CAC provides a safe, neutral, child-friendly setting for children to be forensically interviewed, medically examined and receive the supportive services they need to begin the healing process. What goes unsaid in providing this setting, is the standard of professionalism and efficiency a Child Advocacy Center needs to provide a healthy, cohesive working relationship with Multi-Disciplinary Team partners and its staff. In 2019 alone, the CAC served 696 children.
Family & Community

EAC Network provides critically needed programs and services that assist low-income households to stay warm during the cold winter months, resolve family and business conflicts, and navigate through obstacles that hinder self-sufficiency. By building collaborative relationships with our partners throughout health and human services, the criminal justice system, and the community at large, we are able to provide intervention and community-based resources that aim to help strengthen families and keep them together during times of crisis.
Behavioral Health & Criminal Justice

EAC Network’s Behavioral Health & Criminal Justice programs work in tandem with the criminal justice system to help individuals suffering from mental health and/or substance abuse issues to obtain treatment that leads to a better life. Through programs for anger management, community service, educational intervention for domestic violence offenders, and more, the impact of our services can be measured in many ways including the reduction of crime, enhanced public safety, strengthening the integrity of the family, promoting health and healing, and helping individuals to be productive members of the workforce and community.

EAC Network’s Jose Ramos Has a Passion for Recovery

As Featured in Brooklyn CLEAR (Collaborative Legal Engagement Assistance Response Program)

Pre-Booking Program Video

A Brooklyn CLEAR: Pre-Booking Program training video for prosecutors, funded by the Brooklyn District Attorney’s Office, features Jose Ramos, Case Manager of EAC Network’s Brooklyn CLEAR Program. Ramos, who has experiences with substance abuse, made a decision to change his life while sitting in Riker’s Island. At the time Ramos was facing a charge for drug sales. It was then that he decided to go to school and become a drug counselor so that he could help people at their most vulnerable moments. Today, Ramos is helping people with mental health and substance abuse issues to regain control and turn their lives around.

In a video, which can be accessed online at https://vimeo.com/606032544/4fa1c2753c, Ramos tells us that he knows why he is here. He just tries to be the best he can at it.

Note: The video is part of The Institute for Innovation in Prosecution’s officially launch of A New Approach: A Prosecutor’s Guide To Advancing A Public Health Response To Drug Use and several corresponding videos that provide prosecutors with strategies for advancing drug policy grounded in principles of harm reduction, public health, and racial justice.
Senior & Nutrition Services

As aging within our communities continues at a rapid pace, it is projected by the year 2022 there will be more people over the age of 65 that 18 years old and under. That’s only one reason that EAC Network has stepped to the forefront to aid and assist this growing population. Because these seniors want to “age in place” in their own homes, EAC Network is addressing challenges through outstanding leadership teams that enable them to be surrounded by family, friends, and exceptional volunteers ~ which translates into higher levels of independence, vitality, and health.
Meals on wheels.

Read about you in the Sunday Newsday. Thank you for the wonderful work you do.

I wish I could do more, but please use the enclosed check where it is needed most.

God bless all of you.
Vocational Services

A variety of vocational programs and supportive services are offered by EAC Network that provide the necessary skills for obtaining and retaining employment, particularly with homeless and at-risk populations and those challenged with substance abuse issues, and connect individuals to a career pathway.
QUATELA CHIMERI and JOSEPH A. QUATELA, EAC Network Director, Chairman Emeritus, are honored to recognize the work of EAC and its tireless efforts to raise more than $300,000 to support the social agency’s mission. Together we promote and protect families in need across Long Island and New York City through more than 100 programs.

EAC Network is a proud provider agency of NY Project Hope, New York State’s COVID-19 Crisis Counseling Program. Our organization is now providing Suffolk County with free, confidential, and anonymous emotional support. Learn more by calling our helpline at 516-510-0282, where trained crisis counselors are available to you.

Monday through Friday 8am-8pm, and Saturday 8am-4pm
During these uncertain times, EAC Network remains steadfast in its commitment to help those in crisis. We need your help to continue our good work! By making an additional donation to our table appeal this evening, you can help at-risk populations receive:

- Nutritious meals from Meals On Wheels, nutrition services, and vital case management services for vulnerable seniors and other high-risk populations
- Adult guardianship services for incapacitated adults who are unable to manage aspects of daily life on their own
- Case coordination services for individuals suffering from chronic medical conditions
- Multi-disciplinary team services for children who have been, or at risk of being, abused and sexually exploited
- Mental health and clinical case management services
- And much more ...

Please consider making a donation today. Join together now!
